Clinton was settled in, and the cemeteries date from, 1790, when settlers moved to upstate New York after the American Revolution. The data set has been built up by ecology classes since the mid-1980's and is nearly complete for the township of Kirkland. The setting is a small rural town with about 2500 residents. The current data set was compiled in 2011.